

ARIZONA'S MASONS HONOR TEMPLE DEDICATION

Prominent Members Here
At Twenty-Seventh
Session

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Several prominent Masons and their wives arrived here yesterday from different parts of the territory to assist in the dedication of the new Masonic temple today and attend the 27th annual session of the grand lodge of the order and the grand lodge of the Order of the Eastern Star.

Prominent among those who arrived is George J. Roskrug, of Tucson, grand secretary of the Masonic lodges of the territory. At the formation of the grand lodge of Arizona, March 23, 1882, he was elected grand secretary. He has served continuously until the present time, with the exception of the year 1890 when he was elected grand master. His connection with Masonry began in his birthplace, Cornwall, England. He is generally known as the "father" of Masonry in Arizona.

He emigrated to the United States in 1870 and in 1872 came to Tucson from Denver, Colorado, braving the dangers of floods, famine and the hostility of the Indians on the trip. He assisted in surveying the fifth standard parallel north from Partridge Creek to the Colorado River. He was afterwards appointed chief draughtsman in the office of the surveyor general of the territory. He served four terms as county surveyor of Pima county, three terms as city engineer of Tucson, and one term on the board of regents of the University of Arizona. He was appointed to the office of surveyor general of the territory in 1896 under the Cleveland administration and held the office until August, 1897, when a change of the national administration caused the appointment of his successor.

As civil engineer, explorer and traveler, he has a wide and varied experience in Arizona. One that still dwells in his memory with unfading clearness is a camping expedition with three companions at Volunteer Springs near Belmont on the Santa Fe railroad. He and three companions partook of a breakfast consisting of twelve Irish potatoes and then started to walk to Prescott without provisions. They reached the Banghart ranch at Del Rio, where they were served with a hearty meal after fasting eighty-four hours.

Another visiting Mason who has assisted in the development of the territory is W. M. Griffith, of Tucson, former United States marshal of the territory.

He is a native of Pennsylvania and served with distinction in the Civil war. He came to Arizona in the latter 70's as manager of the Texas and California Stage Company. The company's main line was one thousand seven hundred miles long and required twelve hundred horses to operate it.

In 1897 he was appointed United States marshal by President McKinley. He is prominent in Masonic circles, being a thirty-second degree Mason.

Among the other visiting Masons and members of the O. E. S. who arrived yesterday were noted A. L. Grow of Tombstone, Francis A. Shaw of Phoenix, E. S. Miller of Flagstaff, Leroy Middleton of Globe, Harry A. Drachman of Tucson, A. W. Davis of Winslow, Charles J. Chapman of Tucson, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Miller of Yuma, R. H. Chandler of Yuma, Mr. and Mrs. C. G. Jones of Tempe, Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Morgan, Wilcox, Mrs. J. L. Brown, Mrs. J. G. Pritchard of Bisbee, Mrs. J. C. Capps, Mrs. R. E. Stephens and Mrs. D. M. Lowry of Tucson.

The reception to be given by Golden Rule Chapter No. 1, O. E. S., this evening at the Masonic Hall will be for all Masons and their families. All visiting Masons and their families are cordially invited.

ARNOLD TO BE RECEIVER.

PHOENIX, Nov. 14.—Though he was not an active candidate for the office, Charles E. Arnold has been appointed receiver of the Phoenix land office. Mr. Arnold last night received a telegram from Commissioner Fred Dennett of the general land office, informing him of his appointment.

About a month ago it was announced that George L. Hugbee, a former Rough Rider, had been appointed to this position in place of Pen S. Hildreth, resigned. Mr. Arnold made no application for the place, though he was out for the position of register, following the death of Milton R. Moore. Lyman W. Wakefield was appointed to that position, however. Mr. Arnold had the support of William H. Taft, Charles P. Taft and Arthur I. Vorys, but before they could communicate with the president he had appointed Wakefield.

Not until last night did Mr. Arnold know that the president was thinking of revoking Hugbee's appointment and giving him the place of receiver. The president's reasons for reconsidering his action are unknown.

First Day's Session Used To Impanel The Grand Jury

(From Tuesday's Daily)

The November term of the district court opened yesterday morning at 9:30 o'clock with the impaneling of the grand jury. After being sworn in and instructed by the court the grand jury retired to the grand jury room, where the remainder of the day until 5 o'clock, with the exception of two hours recess at noon, was spent listening to evidence in criminal cases. An adjournment was had at 5 o'clock until 9:30 o'clock this morning. No report of the day's proceedings was submitted.

A. J. Doran was appointed foreman of the grand jury by the court. The other members are Frank Lecklider, merchant of Poland; Horace Yeomans, contractor, Walker; O. B. Marshall, contractor, Prescott; Marshall Young, stockman, Crown King; George C. West, auditor S. F. P. & P., Prescott; Joe Massey, transferman, Prescott; A. W. Whittaker, road overseer, Jerome; John S. Ross, mining man, Prescott; C. C. Callaway, farmer and stockman, Verde valley; J. F. Harrington, mining man, Crown King; F. C. Foster, hardware merchant, Prescott; Ed. Sheehy, merchant, Ash Fork; G. G. Englehart, merchant, Congress; Harrington Blauvelt, mining engineer, Prescott; E. C. Payne, transferman, Prescott; H. K. Bean, merchant, Prescott; W. L. Coffin, mine superintendent, Prescott; Rudolph Baehr, contractor and painter, Prescott, and J. T. McAvin, capitalist, Prescott.

The testimony showed the indebtedness of the company and Tillinghast in the three cases respectively in the sums of $5,355, $26,663.36, and $29,975.

FINE REPORTS FROM SANTA ROSALIA CONTINUE

BISBEE, Nov. 14.—R. K. Clancey of the Santa Rosalia mine of Sonora will leave tomorrow for Cananea in company with Attorney Reynolds to begin the necessary proceedings for the organization of the Mexican corporation. This corporation will be perfected within the next three weeks and the formation of the American company will immediately follow the organization of the Mexican company. The stock certificates for the American company have been ordered and will be issued to those who have taken stock as soon as the American company is formed and the charter of incorporation issued.

Clancey will go from Cananea to the mine which is a short distance from Arizpe and about thirty miles from the Las Chispas, the famous Padrizini mine. The Santa Rosalia is one of the historic mines of Mexico and has been worked at intervals for the past 300 years and many millions of dollars worth of gold have been taken out within the past twenty-five years.

Considering the time which the mine has been operated and the amount of wealth taken out surprisingly little work has been done and there is still an enormous amount of ore in sight, some of it high grade, as Clancey has had assays within the past few days which gave returns of $2,000 per ton. There is a fourteen inch ledge of this ore which will be worked at once. A streak of quartz has been struck which carries free gold to the tune of $8,000 to the ton.

The fourteen-inch vein is to be worked at once and the ore shipped to the United States for reduction. It is expected that the company will realize many thousands of dollars from the first shipment.

It is a matter of record that when the California company worked the Santa Rosalia, one car of ore was shipped which netted $96,000 and that this company never shipped a car of ore which did not run over $30,000. The present owners of the mine believe that they have as good a mine as it ever was and that within a few weeks the record of the California company will be duplicated.

Clancey stated that while the Santa Rosalia is located on the edge of the country where the hostile Yaquis have been, he has heard nothing of their depredations for some time, and he is inclined to believe the reports that the savages have abandoned their warfare. As to the report that operations are to begin soon on the Pico mine south of Cananea, Clancey stated that he knows nothing about it and as his brother would be the first one to know of it if there was any truth in the story and he would be immediately informed.

Many Bisbee people hold blocks of stock in the Santa Rosalia and there is much local rejoicing in consequence.

CONGRESS TO HAVE CYANIDING PLANT

Recent Test Run Shows
This Process Must Be Added

(From Tuesday's Daily)

A test run of five hundred tons of ore was recently finished in the new mill of the United Gold Mines Company at Congress which, according to the statement of J. H. Morrison, master mechanic of the company, demonstrated the necessity of installing a cyanide plant for the economic treatment of the ores. The management expects to have the cyanide plant ready for operation early in 1909.

Master Mechanic Morrison in conversation with a Journal-Miner representative here yesterday said: "The test run proved satisfactory to the management. The four stamp Nissen mill worked perfectly as well as the three Willey tables. The mill has a capacity of forty tons in the twenty-four hours. With the addition of a cyanide plant the reduction facilities will be as near perfect as possible. The management expects to start installing the cyanide plant in the near future."

"The mine is destined to rank among the large gold producers of northern Arizona. It is opened by a shaft 400 feet in depth, from which over 1,000 feet of levels have been run. A large tonnage of ore is exposed. The ore carries good gold values and the paystreak is continuous in the shaft and drifts. There is a twenty horse power gasoline hoist at the shaft and the mill power is also gasoline engines."

The United Gold Mines Company's holdings, known as the Alaska group of mines, are located at Congress a half mile west of the Congress mine, the deepest developed gold property in the territory. The Alaska ledge dips easterly at an angle of thirty degrees, almost the same dip as the Congress vein.

The Congress branch of the S. F. P. & P. railroad passes over the claim, affording excellent transportation facilities for the mine product and the delivery of supplies without expensive hauls by wagon which decreases the profits of many of the most promising properties in the territory.

The property was developed from a mere prospect by D. J. Sullivan, former county assessor. He is confident that it will yet rival in gold production the Congress mine, which has been turning out a steady stream of bullion many years.

WANTS HER SWITCH BACK.

Phoenix Woman Wants Her "Glory" and Misses the Fair.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Nov. 14.—A most unusual request came over the telephone wires to the police department yesterday afternoon.

"I want my switch," shrieked a feminine voice.

"Just a moment," said Policeman Conners, who wanted to be quite sure of his facts. "Now say it over and say it slower."

"I want my switch, switch-it-switch!"

"Say, you want Main 5, don't you?"

"What's Main 5?"

"Oh, that's a nice little house on the Tempe road where you get board for nothing."

"I don't know what you are talking about. I want my switch which I loaned to a woman four days ago to year at the fair and she hasn't brought it back yet. She said she only wanted it for two days and then she would bring it back and I could go to the fair. Here I am with nothing to wear. I mean no hair to wear at the fair. Quit laughing—I can't help it if it rhymes. I want you to arrest that hussey and do it quick before the fair is over."

Four days ago this woman, whose name is unknown to any but the police, loaned her hair to an intimate friend of hers back east. The lady who borrowed the switch promised to return in two days and also to pay a dollar and a half for the use of it. Both of the women possess some natural hair of sufficiently similar shade to make the exchange possible. The switch was valued at $10.

After waiting three days the lender of the hair became anxious as she wanted to see a little of the fair herself, yet she did not care to appear on the streets with what was left of what nature had given her.

After waiting four days she called in the police to aid her in finding the friend of an intimate friend from the east. Just what methods the police will pursue in trying to find the woman with the borrowed hair is not known.

Passed Through.

Charles Burkes passed through here yesterday on his way home to Upper Verde from the territorial fair, where his running horses ran in five events, carrying away first honors in two and second money in three.
